TWO MEN DIE IN BLOODY STRIFE

Supposed to Be a Case of Murder and

RESULT OF A BITTER QUARREL

Suicide.

Dead Bodies of Joshua McFadden and Frank Brown Found in a Room Where They Had Gone to Adjust a Partnership Dispute -- An Empty Revolver Lav Beside Them -- Which Man Committed the Crime Will Probably Never Be Known.

Pittsburg, April 23 .- A special to the Times from Uniontown gives an ac-count of a tragedy at that city as follows: A terible double tragedy came to light here tonight by the discovery The case took up the morning session of the dead bodies of Joshua McFad- no decision being reached. den, of this place, and Frank Brown, of Fairchance, in a room on the third floor of the Lafayette hotel. Both are well known. Brown has been a civil engineer in the employ of the H. C. Frick Coke company for seven years, while McFadden was a clerk in Roth's department store, and is a son of James McFadden, the butcher of this place. Only one revolver was found in the room and the six chambers were empty, pointing to murder and suicide, but which man committed the crime is not nown and will probably never be answered.

There is no evidence of a scuffle, Both men were lying on the floor, Brown's head being at McFadden's The empty revolver lay two feet away from the bodies, and from its position it cannot be told which man used it. McFadden is shot through the chest, while Brown's fatal wound is in the head. He is also shot through the left hand.

The tragedy was not discovered till 10 o'clock tonight, and the bodies were old and stiff, indicating that the men had been dead several hours. The discovery was made by a chambermaid, forced her way into the room through a set of folding doors from an adjoining room. The alarm was immediately given and the police summoned, as it was at first supposed the men were murdered by a third man, who might possibly be in the houseven at that time, Coroner P. F. Smith was also sent for, and upon his arrival summoned a jury and began to take testimony. The only evidence was circumstantial and very incomplete.

HAD BEEN PARTNERS.

It was developed that Brown and McFadden had been in partnership in the grocery business in Fairchance They dissolved partnership last Sep-tember and when the books were balanced, Brown was indebted to the firm and he gave McFadden a note for $222. The note was due today, and their meeting at the hotel was for the purpose of effecting a settlement. The note was found on the floor, torn in two and badly crumpled, which creates the theory that there had been a scramble for it. A check for the amount of the note, in Brown's handwriting, was also found. It was not signed. All the papers were blood stained.

The testimony showed that the mer had gone to the room shortly after o'clock in the evening. Brown walked to this place from Leithworks, a mile south of town, where he had been surveying during the day. He brought with him the ledger containing the partnership accounts, and told some of his friends there were some mistakes which McFadden would have to rectify before the note would be paid. McFadden also told some of his friends that he could explain the disputed accounts. It is possible the men quarreled over these accounts and got into an altercation, which culminated in the tragedy. Coroner Smith adjourned the inquest till tomorrow, when another session will be held and a verdict ren-

There are many rumors and theories afloat tonight. One story told is that the tragedy is the result of jealous; over a young milliner of this place, and there was some testimony bearing on this feature of the case at the inquest. The scene in the room in which the tragedy was enacted was as ghastly as can be imagined. Both men bled profusely and were lying in large pools of blood which literally soaked their clothes and the carpet. Blood had also been dashed against the walls and on the washstand and bed.

STATE CONVENTION.

Will Probably Be Held in August

Philadelphia, April Elkin, of the Republican state committee, will within a week or two issue a call for a meeting of the committee to fix the time for holding the next Republican state convention to nominate candidates for auditor genral and state treasurer. That will at once start the political machinery into motion again, as it will enable the Republican city committee to fix the time for the local primaries and bring to an issue not only the contests for state delegates, but also for the two ounty offices to be filled.

The date for the state convention will probably be fixed for some time in August.
